Mercy Killing Of Hitler Told

ABOARD GERMAN LINER PATRIA, Flensburg Harbor, Germany, May 23 (INS)—Russian intelligence reports today said Hitler died as the result of a lethal hypodermic injection administered by his personal physician. The doctor jabbed his hypodermic needle into Hitler's flesh at 3:30 p. m. Berlin time on May 1, in the steel-and-concrete bomb-proof shelter beneath the chancellery in Wilhelmstrasse, American officials were told.

Arrest Doenitz, Jodl and Aides

By FRANK CONNIFF

FLENSBURG, Germany, May 23 (INS)—American and British officers of the supreme headquarters control party today arrested all members of the so-called Flensburg German government together with the remaining members of the German general staff.

The arrests took place at 9:45 a. m. German time, aboard the former German luxury liner Patria, anchored in the harbor here. The prisoners included Adm. Doenitz, successor to Hitler as Reichsfuehrer, and Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl, one of the signatories of the initial German surrender at Reims.

Adm. Gen. Hans von Friedeburg, also one of the Nazi surrender signatories, committed suicide by poison rather than be made a prisoner of the Allies. Doenitz and his colleagues arrived aboard the Patria shortly after 9 o'clock with no inkling of just what was in store for them. They knew they were to meet Maj. Gen. Lowell W. Rooks and other members of the SHAEF control party who had been dispatched to Flensburg by Gen. Eisenhower for the express purpose of "imposing the will" of the Allied command on the German rump "government."

But the Allied plan to disband Doenitz's regime and the OKW (Oberkommando Wehrmacht, or German high command) had been kept a close secret in order to prevent any possibility of trouble. After their arrest, Doenitz and the others were escorted to their quarters ashore in Flensburg to pack their belongings. Then they were placed aboard airplanes and flown to an undisclosed place of incarceration, presumably outside Germany.

Those arrests included more than 300 German army and naval officers and an undisclosed number of other ranks and civilians. Ten-day secret investigation by the Anglo-American and Russian authorities preceded the arrests. This probe determined that Doenitz and his cohorts had set up a "government" which was "a complete sham," and that the German general staff was trying to maintain itself despite loss of the war on the pretext of maintaining order and preventing chaos inside Germany.

In a five-minute conference in the lounge-bar of the Patria this morning, Gen. Rooks on behalf of the SHAEF control party, informed the German big-wigs the acting German government and high command had been dissolved.

Present were Doenitz, Jodl, von Friedeburg, Vice Adm. Paul Burkner, in charge of protocol for Doenitz, and Jodl's aide, Maj. Exenius.

After being informed of this, Doenitz and the others were taken off the ship under arrest. At the same time, other members of the German government and high command and several thousand troops in Flensburg were taken into custody by the 139th Brigade of the British 11th Armored Division.

By supreme headquarters' action today all vestiges of German control were wiped out. At present there is no high command and no German government.

A staff officer said the whereabouts of Gessler Chief Heinrich Himmler was unknown. He was last seen in Flensburg May 6, when Doenitz and Jodl advised him to flee for his life.

Okinawa Japs Flanked

By JAMES LINDSEY

GUAM, May 23 (AP)—A spectacular lunge by the U. S. Seventh Infantry Division through and beyond strategic Yonabaru virtually doubled the length of the southern Okinawa line today and imperiled Jap defenses safeguarding Naha and the fortress town of Shuri.

The flanking drive, aimed at supply roads vital to the enemy, added nearly 4000 yards to the front which had been so narrow American troops had little room to maneuver to advantage, Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold, commander of the Seventh, said.

The Seventh, refreshed by a two weeks rest, followed the 96th Infantry Division into ruined, rain-spattered, muddy Yonabaru yesterday, then moved on into the hills 1000 yards beyond in a pre-dawn surprise attack.

The doughboys seized the northern end of a strategic line of ridges along the east coast between Riol and Intarashiku and occupy heights from which their guns overlook supply roads to Shuri in the center of the line.

Yonabaru, second largest Okinawa town, was entered by Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th Division late Monday and was the first major town on the island to fall into American hands.

Maj. Gen. Shepherd's Sixth Marine Division strengthened its position along the Asato river on the northern edge of Naha.

At dusk Monday, 12 or more enemy planes attempted to raid ships of the U. S. Pacific Fleet supporting the Okinawa operation. Today's communique, disclosing the raid, said eight planes were shot down and "the remainder re-

Churchill Resigns; Forces July British Elections

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill resigned today and King George VI accepted the resignation and asked him to form a new administration. The resignation formally broke up the wartime coalition cabinet formed in Britain's darkest days in 1940. A general election, first in 16 years, is expected to be called for July 5.

WINSTON CHURCHILL
Resigns as Prime Minister

The King announced tonight on Churchill's request Parliament would be dissolved by royal proclamation June 15.

Churchill was expected to form a new government within a few hours to serve until after election. Labor party ministers, who share in the cabinet the responsibility for prosecuting the war, have signified determination to have no part in the administration until elections are held.

Formal announcement of 10 Downing Street said Churchill "accepted His Majesty's offer of the post of prime minister and kissed hands upon his appointment."

Labor ministers, who have served in the coalition cabinet since 1940, were given a mandate by their party earlier this week to resign if an election was forced at this time. Labor is the second most numerous party. Churchill is expected to lead a new "caretaker" government into Commons when it reassembles Tuesday.

The British Press Ass'n predicted the new government would include such men as Sir John Anderson, Sir James Grigg, Sir Andrew Duncan and Lord Leathers, who were pre-war business men without political backgrounds. All were called into the government to do special jobs.

Churchill, who led Britain from its most desperate days of the war to the unconditional surrender of Germany, gave King George his resignation at noon as prime minister, first lord of the treasury and minister of defense. He had held office since May 10, 1940, when he succeeded Neville Chamberlain.

Walkie-Housie

MANILA, May 23 (AP)—Engineers of the 324 Division needed a deck for a bridge over a small stream in northern Luzon.

They took the flooring of an abandoned house. But the Filipino owners came back and began moving the flooring back to the house. The engineers stopped that.

That night the Filipinos moved onto the bridge and built a roof over it. Morning traffic found the family at breakfast on the bridge.

The engineers finally lent the Filipinos tools and other supplies sufficient to build another house with a Bamboo flooring.

HUGE ARMY TRANSPORT BRINGS FIRST TROOPS HOME FROM EUROPE TO PORT OF BOSTON
Excited Veterans and War Brides Jam Up per Decks for View of Good Old U. S. A.

100 War Brides On Transport

Almost lost in a cheering, waving, sea of khaki that comprised four-thousand American soldiers home from the wars in Europe, 100 hushed and wide-eyed war brides arrived here today to make their new homes in the New World, sailing up Boston Harbor on a huge three-decked transport.

Tugs, dwarfed by the big gray ship, nosed it into Commonwealth Pier shortly after noon, while police and fire boats carried out an order from Mayor Kerrigan to split the skies with whistles of welcome.

Hundreds of pedestrians and motorists formed an impromptu welcoming committee.

Two Army bands alternated in saying it with music.

The soldiers aboard cheered, applauded, whistled, waved their arms and shouted, "We want beer."

The brides, girls from Ireland, England, France, Scotland, Belgium and Holland smiled happily and waved white handkerchiefs. But 20 of them had more pressing business, for they were the mothers of 20 babies aboard.

Cadet nurses of the Red Cross went on the ship to take care of the infants while the mothers packed.

Among the returned soldiers were 1000 who had been liberated from German imprisonment.

Among the 130 New Englanders, all members of the 433d bombardment group, who came back on the transport, were:

Lt. Theodore Hultgren of Woodside rd., Winchester; Sgt. Joseph W. Jones of Eighth st., South Boston; Sgt. Allan E. Rowsell of Chester st., Arlington; Capt. James R. Long of Winne-mere st., Malden; T-Sgt. John F. Cogan of Tremont st., Cambridge; Sgt. Francis X. Kyle of Harvard st., Boston; Sgt. Paul J. Murray of Beach st., Revere, and Cpl. Salvatore Santoro of Cedar st., Somerville.

The commanding officer, Col. Joseph Miller of Long Beach, Cal., and 480 other fliers of the 433d, did not return. Miller was killed March 18 in a mission over Germany jet plane factories.

The soldier husbands of some of the brides were waiting for them. The husbands of others were still in Europe. But the face of every girl aboard shone with happiness at the knowledge a new era was beginning for her, and her

Pair Strip, Make Line, Save Sailor

PORTLAND, Ore., May 23 (AP)—A man and his wife, who stripped off their clothing to improvise a rope, rescued a sailor clinging precariously to the face of an 800-foot cliff.

Larry L. Secor of Milwaukee, Ore., fell through a broken guard-rail on a trail and plunged 60 feet to a slight break in the cliff.

His hiking companions, Richard W. Short and Mrs. Short, stripped off jackets, slacks, corduroy trousers, slack tops, shirts, shorts, anklets and two belts and knotted an improvised line. It wasn't long enough.

Mrs. Short lowered her husband over the cliff to a small fir tree. From there the line still would not reach. Secor called that his hands were going to sleep. The frantic couple found a 20-foot length of wire in nearby brush.

With the wire knotted to the clothing rope, Short was lowered to the fir tree, and dropped the line again. The sailor grasped an anklet and slowly inched upward to the tree. From there they tossed the rope to Mrs. Short and the two men wiggled to the bank.

Best Girl Greets Hero With Kiss

By JACK McLEAN and TOM RILEY

Blonde Beverly Hargreaves, 19, of Lexington, stepped out of an early morning plane at the national airport in Washington, D. C., today into the arms of T-Sgt. James William Lindsey, who on Monday was presented the Congressional Medal of Honor by President Truman.

It was the first time the hero soldier and his sweetheart had met in four years, and when they turned to face a battery of cameramen, his grinning face was smeared with lipstick.

"The meeting was perfect. I couldn't have asked for anything nicer," Beverly told the Boston American in a telephone conversation later. "At the airport I was so excited I can't even remember the things he said. But I do know he showered me with kisses."

Beverly said she probably—and when prompted by the sergeant, added "definitely"—would accompany the hero and his parents to his home town of Lucedale, Miss., where a gala reception, parade, barbecue and dance will be staged Monday in his honor. And the Lexington girl will share in the glory.

"Right after that," she disclosed, "he is returning with me to my family's summer home in Centerville. His sister, Mrs. Pauline Smith, and her two children, Jacqueline, 4, and Gerry, 2, are coming back with us, too. Pauline and the youngsters are going to spend the summer."

Had the sergeant discussed marriage?

"He hasn't asked me yet," Beverly replied. "We have been so busy and so excited, we haven't had time to talk of much. I did tell him, though, how our meeting was arranged by the Boston American and he was very much pleased."

Beverly, who was invited to the medal-presenting exercises before a joint session of Congress but missed Lindsey's invitation because it went to her Lexington address while she was on the Cape, was accompanied to Washington by her father, James R. Hargreaves.

Today and tomorrow Sgt. Jake and his sweetheart will make a sightseeing tour of the nation's capital. It is Beverly's first visit to Washington, and she said she is particularly anxious to see the House of Representatives, where Sgt. Jake received his honor medal from the President.

"That's going to be the first stop on our sightseeing tour," she revealed.

Sgt. Jake, who is automatically entitled to an Army discharge because of his award of the Congressional Medal of Honor, said he has been so busy he hasn't even given any thought to the matter of applying for civilian status.

Colonel Home With Bride Who Saved Him From Nazis

The first American soldier and his war bride to come down the gangplank of the transport which brought 100 war brides here today were Lt. Col. Thomas H. Hubbard, 33, of Ft. Worth, Tex., and his beautiful Belgian wife, Nellie, 24—who had saved his life.

Blonde, blue-eyed, wearing a grape-colored turban and blue plaid dress with full skirt, the girl from Belgium drew a musical ovation from the band and an impressive number of "Oh's" and "Ah's" from spectators.

Here was a couple whose romance was dramatic as any fiction could portray. Hubbard was shot down over Belgium while flying a Thunderbolt in November, 1943. He landed on a farm. The daughter of the family nursed him back to health and the family itself secreted him from the Germans.

The American flier stayed there seven months. Then, as American forces began to press the Germans back, he decided to try for a break through the Nazi lines and communicate what knowledge he had gained to intelligence officers.

He made it and accomplished his self-imposed mission. Then he penetrated the German lines again and found his way back to the farmhouse.

Came the day when the Nazi tide was rolled back out of Belgium and Hubbard could walk abroad with armed men of his own country.

He and Nellie were married April 14.

He had taught her English. She had taught him some Belgian. Today she made a pretty speech of thanks to Mayor Kerrigan, who met them at the pier and invited them to be his guests at dinner and the theater tonight.

She declined, as prettily, to give reporters her family name. And when one asked her to compare American and Belgian men she replied with what appeared to be a very sound answer. She said:

"I love Belgium and I love America, and their men are good men—but in marriage it is the one person who counts, just the one person."

Tobin's Kenney Shift Hits Snag

Another of Gov. Tobin's appointments struck a snag today when the executive council delayed action until June 6 on the nomination of Raymond J. Kenney of Belmont as director of the state division of forestry, submitted May 16.

Councilor James J. Marshall, Worcester Democrat, requested the deferment but gave no reason. The two-week delay, instead of the customary one week, was due to Memorial Day on regular meeting day.

Today's failure to confirm Kenney, former state conservation commissioner, came two weeks after the council flatly refused to approve Tobin's appointments of William A. Reilly, Boston fire commissioner, as Metropolitan district commissioner, and Oscar Rochelleau of Worcester as director of fisheries and game.

Big Five Is Divided Over Veto Power

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23 (AP)—A last-minute division appeared among the Big Five at the United Nations Conference today over the veto power they should wield in a world organization intended to keep peace.

A single no vote still could block any steps toward peaceably settling a dispute.

Rondage Bonds

The $100 they had saved for a honeymoon was gone, taken by the masked man who accosted 19-year-old Nolan Truman Marks, and his wife.

Marks gave fight and the gunman fired twice, one of the bullets lodging just above Mrs. Marks' knee. Still weak from a wound requiring 23 stitches over his heart, Marks "blacked out."

At a hospital, comforting his wife, Marks said, "To think I sweated two years—for this."

1300 Gals. of Gas, $1500 for Swim

LAWRENCE, May 23—A mid-night swim in the Merrimack seemed like an ideal way for Raymond H. Wheaton, 22, of Hingham st., to cool off, but he reported today it cost him $1500 and coupons worth 1300 gallons of gasoline.

The money and coupons were in his trousers, which he told police disappeared while he was sporting in the cool waters.

The perplexing part of his story was his assertion that his wife waited on the bank and her equally vehement declaration she wasn't with him at all.

Wheaton said he had closed the Lawrence st. gasoline filling station he and a friend had purchased a few weeks ago and started to drive home with his wife when he decided on the swim.

Patrolman Timothy Nolan and Patrick J. Gilrain found the trousers but no money or coupons.

Old Colony Road Doom Predicted

Eventual abandonment of passenger traffic on the New Haven Railroad's Old Colony lines was predicted by former Senate President Jarvis Hunt of Attleboro as a result of the Interstate Commerce Commission's denial of a Massachusetts petition for further hearings on the road's reorganization.

Hunt, chairman of a special commission created by the Legislature to investigate railroad conditions, pointed out the present reorganization plan permits the road to drop passenger service if too great a loss of revenue is shown, even though combined passenger and freight traffic show a net profit.

"As the plan now stands," Hunt said, "the New Haven R. R. may acquire and operate the Old Colony line and collect its freight revenues. But if the passenger losses reach too low a figure, then all passenger service can be abandoned."

Boy Just Didn't Like Dentists

CHICAGO, May 23 (INS).—Eight-year-old Clifford Cozens has an active dislike for dentists and even their assistants.

His dislike is so strong, in fact, it resulted in a warrant for arrest today of Dr. Rufus W. Lee, who sent the boy's mother, Mrs. Roy Cozens, a bill for $10 and a good fight. She accused the dentist of disorderly conduct.

Dr. Lee tried to extract four of Clifford's teeth Friday. Loud screams and an allegedly violent offensive by the lad halted the operation after two molars were pulled.

Mrs. Cozens was waiting outside when she said she heard the screams, some from her son and others emitted by two nurses. She said she entered the room and found Clifford on the floor with a bleeding mouth and swollen ears.

Dr. Lee declared the youngster expressed his resentment by grabbing one nurse's arm and socking the other nurse in the stomach. The dentist explained:

"The boy is built like a football player. He weighs 130 pounds. And the costs of the treatment were not for teeth, but for damage to the office."

Asst. U. S. Atty. Joseph J. Gottlieb said Moffitt admitted taking coupons worth 40,000 gallons from the bank. The coupons were sold to O'Brien for 25 cents each, Gottlieb said.

Yanks Dating Chinese Girls Building Up Wall of Hatred

CHUNGKING, May 23 (AP).—The Chungking edition of the American-owned Shanghai Evening Post and Mercury said today that "scandal mongers appear to be persuading the Chinese that every American in uniform is a lecher and every Chinese girl allowing herself to be seen with him in public is a prostitute."

"Facile stories about jeep girls are being built up a wall of hatred between the Chinese and Americans that may take years to dispel," the newspaper said.

"It is no longer safe for an American officer or soldier to take a respectable Chinese girl out." Their presence on the street together is a signal for a howling mob of hoodlums to swarm around shrieking at the top of their voices, hurling insults and generally humiliating the couple.

"Frequently hotheads in the crowd slap the girl's face, pull her by the hair. The venom of the crowd is usually levelled at the girl, but fist fights often occur when the American tries to save his companion from insult."

The paper said the situation was "pleasing the Japanese by threatening to create a rift between the two allies."

Meat Shortage Imperils Supply Of Eggs, Milk

By Associated Press

Meat-hungry Americans are eating into their future supplies of two prime substitutes, eggs and milk. As a result, a survey disclosed today, the government is not meeting with as much success as a year ago in securing a reserve of butter, cheese, evaporated milk and eggs for use next fall and winter, when output normally drops below requirements.

Serious shortages in these foods may develop.

Present supply prospects indicate the quality of the civilian diet will slump to its lowest point of the war in August. By then it probably will be largely a vegetable diet, for the meat situation is likely to be even worse, and supplies of food fats and oils will be smaller.

The grocery store will offer little more than a good victory garden.

Officials expect the meat supply to improve slightly in September when fall marketings of grass-fed cattle begin and farm-estate sending this year's early spring pigs to slaughter.

Eighty years ago when our Country was, as now, in the fourth year of an exhausting war, the founders of this bank sought to induce thrifty people to prepare through saving for an uncertain postwar era. The exercise of thrift and economy which we advocated then stood our depositors in good stead. Under closely parallel circumstances, we staunchly reaffirm those principles today.

Senator Poll 3-to-1 Against Isle Trust Plan

By DAVID SENTNER

Boston American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, May 23—The Senate would vote three to one against acceptance by the United States of trusteeship of captured strategic Pacific islands under jurisdiction of the World Security Organization, on the basis of responses to a date from slightly more than half the membership in the Hearst newspapers poll of the upper chamber.

Here is the percentage of replies at the halfway point of the poll to three written questions:

1—Do you approve of postwar control by the United States of strategic Pacific islands captured from Japan?

Yes. (100 per cent.)

2—Do you believe the United States should assume sovereign possession of such strategic bases?

Yes. (86 per cent.) No. (14 per cent.)

3—Do you believe the United States should accept trusteeship of such bases under jurisdiction of the proposed international security organization?

Yes. (23 per cent.) No. (75 per cent.)

The disparity between the 86 per cent affirmative figure in question No. 2 and the 75 per cent negative in question No. 3 is explained by a number of Senators, maintaining that sovereign possession could be worked out within the security league framework or certain islands should be owned outright by the United States.

Wounded Vets Guests At Dinner Tomorrow

Wounded veterans from Army and Navy hospitals in Massachusetts will be guests at the eighth annual dinner of the Massachusetts Committee of Catholics, Protestants and Jews in Hotel Statler, tomorrow night, it was announced today.

President Truman will send a message to the meeting, which will honor leaders in the movement for racial and religious tolerance and the principal address will be by Archbishop Cushing, one of the three recipients of the committee's annual awards. The others are Sen. Saltonstall and Judge Abraham K. Cohen.

Superior Court Chief Justice John P. Higgins will be toastmaster.

TESTIMONIAL POSTPONED

Storms damaging telephone lines in Maine and requiring the services of all available repairmen have caused the postponement of the testimonial banquet honoring William Nonahan, president of Local No. 2, International Brotherhood of Telephone Workers. Originally scheduled for Saturday, the banquet will be June 23 at the Boston City Club.

Reverse Call

Patrolman Robert Hamlet, walking his beat in Bennington st., East Boston, was surprised when an auto pulled up at the curb, smoke pouring from the windows and the woman driver screaming for help.

Assisting Miss Annie M. Warshaw of Field st., Brockton, out of the car, Hamlet drove it to the fire station at Saratoga and Prescott sts., where firemen extinguished the blaze.

A cigaret tossed out a window had been blown back onto the rear seat upholstery. Damage was $150.

Can Asparagus Now

By MARTHA LEE

ASPARAGUS has been a luxury item in the fresh produce market for the past few weeks but now we are beginning to see bunches of the native variety at greatly reduced price. Which reminds us that this would be a good time to can some of it. Those who haven't time or available space for a victory garden would do well to take advantage of seasonal vegetable and fruit bargains for their canning needs.

Only fresh, tender asparagus rates canning, because asparagus gets stringy and loses flavor when it waits and wilts. Keep it cold and moist if it must be held a few hours before canning.

CANNING ASPARAGUS

Because it is a nonacid vegetable, asparagus is canned safely at home only in a steam pressure canner. To prepare for canning, first wash asparagus thoroughly—preferably in cold running water. Trim off the scales along the stalks as well as any tough, woody ends. The scales are pockets for sand and dirt in which may be lurking dangerous, spoilage-causing bacteria.

Cut the stalks into inch pieces, cover with boiling water, and boil 2 or 3 minutes. Pack hot into clean hot jars and cover with hot cooking liquid, leaving ½ inch headspace at top of jars. Add 1 teaspoon salt to each quart when packed. Process at 10 pounds pressure: pint jars, 35 minutes; quart jars, 40 minutes.

If whole asparagus is desired, trim the stalks so they fit upright in kettle in 3 or 4 inches of boiling water. Cover tightly and boil 2 to 3 minutes. Pack the hot asparagus into clean hot jars, salt, and process as for asparagus pieces.

Any tender portions left on the trimmed ends may be cut up and canned separately, or cooked and eaten in ways like these:

CREAM OF ASPARAGUS SOUP

2 cups asparagus, cut in small pieces

1 cup water
3 cups special cream sauce
½ tsp. nutmeg
Cook asparagus in water until soft. Force asparagus and liquid through a sieve. Combine with cream sauce, add nutmeg and mix well. Season with more salt and pepper if necessary. Makes 6 servings.

SPECIAL CREAM SAUCE FOR CREAM SOUPS

6 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 medium-sized onion, sliced
3 tbsp. flour ½ tsp. pepper
1½ tsp. salt 3 cups milk

Melt butter or margarine, add onion, and cook over low heat 5 minutes, until yellow. Remove onion, if desired. Stir in flour and seasonings and when well blended add milk slowly, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture boils. Makes 3 cups. (Diced celery or carrots may be cooked with the onion for additional flavor.)

ASPARAGUS AND PEAS

2 cups hot cooked asparagus, cut in 1-inch pieces
¾ cups hot cooked or canned peas
2 tbsp. melted butter or margarine
Salt and pepper

Combine asparagus and peas; add butter or margarine and season to taste. Makes 6 servings.

SCALLOPED ASPARAGUS

2 to 3 cups cooked asparagus, cut in short lengths
1½ cups medium white sauce
½ cup buttered crumbs
¼ sliced hard-cooked eggs
2 tbsp. finely chopped pimiento
1½ tbsp. chopped pickle

In a greased casserole arrange the asparagus, eggs, pimiento, pickle and white sauce in layers. Top with buttered crumbs and sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 25 minutes or until browned. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

WE'VE COME TO THE CONCLUSION that a beauty editor is a missionary at heart. And when . . . in her small way . . . she helps a woman onto the road of loveliness . . . she has done a deed that is satisfying and gratifying to the spirit . . . and goads her on to further perpetual plugging about skin care and improvement.

Not so long ago we received a letter from one of our readers thanking us profusely and with deep appreciation for recommending a certain cream for youthful beauty. Of the many cosmetics she had tried . . . this woman wrote . . . nothing had ever given her such immediate facial loveliness as had the product we endorsed.

AN UNUSUAL PRODUCT

She was thrilled with the results. Her words beamed with overt praise. She was indeed a happy woman . . . for her mirror was telling a story of such delightful progress that she had regained poise and self-assurance.

It is an unusual product . . . one which holds great affinity for our own complexion . . . for it is an exclusive cream containing lipoids . . . those vital substances, essentials to living skin cells. This is not a hormone cream . . . although in our beauty book hormones cream will be a post-war scientific achievement on even more lavish scales than today . . . but it is a cream that is absorbed by the skin and aids the function of nature in bringing about youthful beauty.

CLARIFIES THE SKIN

It clarifies the skin with such amazing stunningness . . . that it is almost hard to put the transformation into so many cold, calculating words. All the 20 minutes you have this cream . . . the essence of basic oils blended into a sensational smoothness . . . on your face . . . your complexion tingles with joy every split second of the time. When it is issued off there is a remarkable difference. And when you awake in the morning . . . your fingers stroke a new-found expanse of softness that is hard to believe.

There is no need to countenance aging skin, sagging contour, lined eyes. Such a face can be aided . . . now we know . . . because of the great advance of cosmetic science. And this cream which answers the haunting cry of a misguided, unhappy face will take its place in the beauty hall of fame.

For the name of this unique cream for youthful beauty, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Tuesday—I had to go down to New York city last Friday afternoon on business, and so I remained over Saturday to accomplish a number of errands and see several friends who have been anxious to talk certain things over.

I came back to the country Sunday, and it certainly is always a joy to return.

WHILE I WAS AWAY, a very tragic thing happened. I had engaged a young man a week ago, and thought him sufficiently tried out to let him drive me to the train. He was supposed to do the daily errands afterward and drive back to the cottage.

But early next morning Miss Thompson called me in New York to tell me that he had failed to appear. She got in touch with the sheriff, and later it was discovered that the man had stolen the car and been in an accident with a number of young people.

Four of them were killed, and he and another young man were in the hospital, seriously injured.

It was tragic and a great disappointment to me. I had determined to use the U. S. Employment Service because they are the agency through which our returned servicemen are supposed to get jobs. After our local agency sent me this man, I called up to ask if they had investigated his references. I was told they were not supposed to do that, but would comply in this case.

IT SEEMS TO ME that a government agency should be given sufficient appropriations to do its job on a basis which really services both the employee and the employer.

To send out people without any investigation is rather dangerous. In this instance, we found that the man had not given his right name or address, two very easy things to check. I am telling this story today only because I think that people interested in the service which the U. S. Employment Service can render should protest to Congress about a situation that prevents this service from being of any real value to the public.

Pale Dress, Black Accents

By BETTINA BEDWELL

A RECIPE for your summer formal outfit is to take a pale dress and then add to it some black, dramatic accents, mixing the combination to a most appetizing blend.

Any pale color will do, but the top fashion folks prefer you to pick pale gray or beige, natural or white. Two strong black accents at least are necessary to get the right blend, and these may be at the waistline, the gloves, your hat, or maybe a corsage.

An example of the pale dress with black is sketched. This is a natural colored crepe dress that has a surplised waist with very short cup sleeves, and a wrap-around sarong-type skirt. The strong black accent of the wide belt with a black rose makes good drama, and the long black jersey gloves are the final note.

BOUQUETS OF SWEET PEAS in the same rich red as the glasses of tomato juice at each place decorated the tables at the Junior League's annual luncheon yesterday.

The colorful paintings, photography and handicraft in the members' art show currently on exhibition in the ballroom lent a gay and interesting background to the affair.

Head table guests were the re-elected president, vice-president and treasurer, Patricia Spencer of West Newton, Mrs. Norman C. Hoffman of Swampscott and Mrs. George A. Parson of Boston, respectively. Also the new secretary and assistant secretary, Mrs. C. Chauncey Gray and

Mrs. Robert Tappan

Sabra Harwood. The latter's dress with tiny blue kittens with gold dots on a navy background was the cause of many admiring comments.

Popular Patty Spencer wore a corsage of the same deep red as the centerpieces on her black faille suit and Debbie Hoffman a cluster of yellow roses in her red-dish gold hair above a summery gray, yellow and white print.

A new note in lapel pins was introduced by post deb Ellen Gray who arrived for lunch in a nifty gray pin stripe suit with her taxi driver's license for ornament. She is the first Junior League to help the wartime shortage by taking a job as cab driver in metropolitan Boston. Peppy Mrs. Albert Goodhue, Jr., came up from Marblehead for the affair and wore a lovely French print in shades of blue, rose and black on a white background, with a pair of roses adorning her saucy little navy straw hat. Her painting of a majestic clipper ship under full sail is one of the noteworthy exhibits in the art show.

Others who turned out in modish spring frocks to celebrate the change in weather were Mrs. Robert M. P. Kennard, with Mrs. Philip K. Brown, Mary Frances Ludwig, Mrs. Henry Atkins, Mrs. Howard W. Lee, Jr., Lydia Evans and Ann Mathews who are to be June brides, Mrs. W. Gardner Barker, Jr., Mrs. John Paige, Mrs. Walter H. Young, Jane Megrew, and Dorothy Rackemann who made a report on the recent meeting of the national association of Junior Leagues which she attended in New York.

THE THEATRE Guild's final play of the season, "Soldier's Wife," with its story of the returning serviceman, had a particular appeal to Capt. and Mrs. Charles H. Vallender, Jr., of Brookline who have just been reunited after his long tour of duty overseas. They attended the opening at the Walbur with Evie's mother, Mrs. Frederick S. Weatherly.

An attractive young theatergoer was debutante Baba Mitchell, escorted by a Marine officer and wearing a gold satin and metal cloth evening wrap over her brown moire dress. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tappan, the latter in a becoming pale green redingote were among the young marrieds as were Lt. and Mrs. Ogden Glass of Montreal in a party with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McNeil, Mrs. Walter Badger, Jr., wore a bouquet of bouvardia on her print dress, the William Dana Orcutt and Mrs. Henry Endicott had their usual front row seats, and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller attended with her daughter Mrs. Robert Henderson.

Plant Vegetables For Canning

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head Vegetable Gardening Dept., Suffolk County Agricultural School and Director of the Daily Record-American Sunday Advertiser's Garden on Boston Common.

With official reports indicating a real shortage of food this year, both fresh and canned vegetables should plant it possible to grow vegetables not only for fresh use and preserving, let me suggest that you plant a dozen plants for each member of the family. An extra 10 feet of beans for each member will supply enough beans. Small quantities of other crops can be put up as they become available.

With experience gained in the past two years, our local garden committees are so well organized that it is possible for anyone to get a garden plot.

Dust tomato plants with copper lime dust or spray with 2-2-50 half strength bordeaux as soon as you set the plants in the garden. This will protect them from flea beetle attacks which cause serious damage in Massachusetts.

ROAD TO PEACE

THE ESSENTIAL condition "if the world wishes to regain peace," as Pope Pius XII said in his brief but solemn broadcast commenting on the end of the European war, is "that falsehood and rancor should vanish and in their stead sovereign truth and charity should reign."

The world surely must not DESPAIR of meeting such a condition.

Permanent peace is the most earnestly desired thing among all the peoples of the world and would be the most beneficial thing ever achieved in the history of mankind.

But it is gravely doubtful if the minds of men and the tempers of nations are presently capable of the transition.

For, as the Pope said:
"War has aroused everywhere discord, suspicion and hatred."

And it is a serious question if peace, despite all the gratitude and thanksgiving in the hearts of men, can offset and dissolve these evils.

In any event, the world should TRY.

And the formula for its success, whether achieved now or after some future war, must certainly be found in the earnest and urgent counsel of the Pope's message.

It is a formula which, in the words of the Pope, might well be conceived as coming from those who have died in this great war.

"Let there arise from the earth wherein we have been placed as grains of wheat," the Pope interprets these dead as saying, "the moulders and builders of a better Europe, of a new and better universe, founded on the filial fear of God, on fidelity to His holy Commandments, on respect for human dignity, on the sacred principle of equality, on the rights of all peoples and all states, large and small, weak and strong."

Before this is a permanently peaceful world, it must be a just world.

Before there is an enduring peace among the peoples of the world, there must be brotherhood among them.

When there is universal justice and brotherhood in the world, as the Pope's message concluded:

"Then and only then will the reborn world avoid the return of the tremendous scourge of war, and there will reign a true, stable and universal brotherhood, and that peace guaranteed by Christ even on earth to those who are willing to believe and trust in His law of love."

HERO CHAPLAIN

THE CONDUCT of the chaplains—Catholic, Protestant and Jewish—has been brilliant and inspiring in this war.

From the hour of Pearl Harbor we have been told again and again about how a priest or minister or rabbi risked his life to serve the living and the dead, and how on many occasions a parson in blue or khaki chose death for himself in order that other men might return to their loved ones at home.

A few days ago we learned of the deeds of Lt. Com. Joseph Timothy O'Callahan, the Cambridge Jesuit chaplain, who did his duty so heroically after the Japanese dive-bomber attack on the aircraft carrier Franklin that he earned the right to be called one of the outstanding heroes of the American Navy.

We are particularly impressed by the fact that Chaplain O'Callahan would not claim any credit for himself when he was interviewed in New York, but spoke in glowing terms of the extraordinary bravery of the ship's captain and the accomplishments of a Protestant associate who was a Methodist minister in Texas before joining the service.

Religion benefits immeasurably by the exemplary behavior of such men as Chaplain O'Callahan. They truly follow the Master Who taught humility and brotherly love.

Glances beget ogle, ogle gets sighs,
Sighs wishes, wishes words,
And words a letter.
And then, who knows what mischief may arise
When love links two young people
In one letter. —BYRON.

SOME BRITISH war wives became a little disturbed as to the competition offered by photographs of "pinup girls" adorning the quarters of fighting men. So they decided to give the photos of the lovely ladies of the entertainment world a little competition. Accordingly, they arranged to be photographed in pinup poses. That is, in bathing suits, provocative dresses, etc. So, young woman, if you are similarly worried by the rivalry of the pinup girls, perhaps you had better arrange to have your picture taken in one of the aforementioned provocative poses and rush same to your husband overseas.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: An old-timer is a fellow who remembers the song "When Sweet Marie Was Sixteen" . . . As for husbands wearing wedding rings, the wives now seem to have that situation well in hand. Ninety per cent of present day marriages have double ring ceremonies . . . Georgie Price is the only member of the New York Stock Exchange ever to be paid for singing at the Copacabana night club in Manhattan.

CHILDREN: "Are you expecting a child?" a San Diego apartment house coldly asked one of his tenants, the young wife of an officer in the U. S. Navy. The woman answered in the affirmative. Said the landlord: "The rule here is no children. So you will have to nurse." So the expectant mother had to go on a wild search for an apartment. Her husband couldn't help her as he was in the Pacific fighting Japs at the time.

PASSING BY: Elin Berlin swims as if it were only the day before yesterday. Elin married Irving Berlin, but the happy couple recently celebrated a 19th wedding anniversary . . . Col. Larry MacPhail, Pooh-Bah of the New York Yankees ball club, Col. MacPhail recently married his secretary, thus following the example of many celebrated men. Somebody should write a book entitled, "Men Who Married Their Secretaries." Perhaps secretaries who married the boss would be a better title.

Jerome Kern. Indefatigable composer of popular tunes.

Forty years have passed since he wrote his first published song which was titled, "How'd You Like to Spoon With Me?" It was introduced and popularized by Georgia Caine.

WOMEN, ETC.: While the European war was in progress it was thought not quite right to go out all dolled up in evening clothes. V-E Day seems to have changed everything. Now the girls are appearing at after-dark spots all dolled up as well as in evening clothes? Is it a matter of choice of style and material or does a female have to be a tall and terrific type to look outstanding in an evening gown?

ASIDES: Elizabeth Murray introduced the popular ditty "Bedelia." Not Blanche Ring, as I claimed. Cost me two stogies to this out . . . Remember that vaudeville mind reader and prophet billed as Gene Dennis, the girl with the thousand eyes? Good, wasn't she? Gene had a high average of accurate predictions until she started to try to predict the winner of the Kentucky Derby . . . A U. S. marine, writing from the Pacific area, says in some jungles there are bats with a wingspread of four feet and a body the size of a rabbit.

AS IT WAS: "Hang the Kaiser!" That was the slogan of the elections in England in December, 1918. Lloyd George was in favor of the idea suggested by the slogan. Article 227 of the peace treaty accused the Kaiser of being a war criminal. The Allies were very anxious to bring him to trial. But the Kaiser at Doorn, Holland, had the protection of the Dutch government which refused to give him up. Some trials of minor war criminals were held. Three Germans were given short jail sentences for ill-treating prisoners of war.

BRIEFLY: Add members of the MNIAP Club: Delphine Jean Cevenne, San Francisco. Miss Cevenne is a triple-threat MNIAPC member the same as Floyd Lloyd Boyd of Brooklyn . . . Next to Paris, France, there is more French spoken in Montreal, Quebec, than in any other city in the world. So state a contemporary. Quite so. But the French spoken in Montreal is much different from that spoken in Paris. In fact, I have had Parisians tell me they can hardly understand the French spoken in Quebec.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

COPYRIGHT, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.
NEW YORK, May 24—When Joe Fay and James Bove, vice-presidents of big construction unions of the American Federation of Labor, were sentenced to eight and one-half years in prison on April 5, so much other news was breaking that important details were omitted from most of the accounts which reached the public.

Because this case reveals a connection between the union racket, the construction racket, which is just as bad as any other, the underworld and political subsidiaries of the Roosevelt government, this will be a background essay.

A New York judge has just released Fay and Bove on $25,000 bail during their appeal.

These men are charged with shaking down contractors for $368,000 on the Delaware aqueduct job, a $300,000,000 project paid for largely by federal taxes.

On the day of sentence, attorneys for the defense asked the court for mercy and that made Frank Hogan, the prosecutor, good and sore. He told the court that there was danger of retaliation by the mob against those few contractors who had come into court to testify.

Accordingly, Judge Munsund did warn Fay and Bove if there was retaliation by anyone he would see to it they served 15-year terms.

BUT HOGAN also made some remarks about contractors on the same job who, he said, maintained a passive attitude toward his investigations. He charged that they just weren't willing to do their duty as citizens.

First Hogan discussed Harry McLean of Toronto, who made himself notorious a few years ago by throwing away wads of money. McLean got a big reputation as a great open-handed man of mystery.

In September, 1942, Hogan claimed, he sent an accountant to examine McLean's books and McLean beat the accountant up. A month later, Hogan said, he sent an assistant district attorney to see McLean and he flatly refused to enter New York.

Later, McLean went to Battle Creek and was grabbed as a witness, but departed during the night after admitting, however, that he had made a payment of $125,000 on the job.

"ANOTHER EXAMPLE of good citizenship," Mr. Hogan then continued, and he tells me he was being sarcastic, "was presented by Stephen A. Healy of Chicago."

Healy is a big construction contractor. He is a friend of Mayor Ed Kelly and of William E. Maloney, the president of Fay's union. Maloney also is a Chicago Democratic politician.

Last year, Healy picked up at a bargain the enormous Stevens Hotel in Chicago, which the Army had commandeered briefly for a military training center. This year Healy sold the hotel at a profit of $1,000,000.

"For over a year," Hogan said, "Healy refused to come into this jurisdiction. All we could do was beg him to be a good citizen and to urge his attorneys so to persuade him."

"Healy stood out there and ignored us," Mr. Hogan told the court. Later he was picked up in Florida under a reciprocal witness treaty but started habeas corpus proceedings and got away to Chicago. After a year and a half, however, he did come to New York.

CHICAGO UNIONS have been investigated before. One investigation was made by the Treasury, Dennis Zeigler, a rank and file worker, and father of a large family, had been hounded out of his job and made destitute because he tried to reform a Chicago local. He applied to William Green, president of the A. F. of L., and Green accused him of trying to disrupt labor's solidarity. In desperation he gave information to agents of the Treasury who then made inquiries into the incomes of various union leaders.

One night in February, 1933, Zeigler telephoned the Treasury agents, imploring armed protection because he had been chased in a public street and threatened.

Two Treasury agents have verified this phone call. However, the Treasury had no police force and therefore could not help him.

A few nights later, on Feb. 26, 1933, Zeigler was waylaid and murdered by a gunman within sight of his home.

ONE NIGHT in August, 1941, William Green attended festivities given by the Chicago mob in honor of Maloney and said:

"Bill Maloney is a highly efficient administrator and executive of great talent and, though there is no need to tell you people who know Bill, a loyal, intelligent, honest, courageous leader of organized labor."

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 23—I am sorry to report that Lou Costello has signed a Universal contract for five years without his partner, Bud Abbott. That's how serious their quarrel has become.

Eddie Sherman, their good friend and manager for years, has begged them to reconsider and warned them how foolish it is to break up their successful business relations, pointing out that when Laurel and Hardy parted the public just didn't want them alone.

Lou Costello

The "inside" on the trouble is that Lou has always received 60 per cent of their contracts while Bud received 40 per cent. But the latter now insists that it become 50-50 or he will go it alone. This advice, I am told, comes from a new business representative.

Although the boys are now working at MGM and they do not speak, I sincerely hope by the time this appears in print that something will have happened to keep them together.

IF ARTHUR RANK, top British producer, was quoted correctly he stated just before he took off for London that he was on his way to Canada and the United States to be sure that Britain had a fair share in the motion picture industry. He certainly cannot mean our using British talent, for we have always favored English actors. Wonder if he means in the release of British films in this country. We have also shown London-made pictures here—as many as possible. England hasn't made very many since the war plans took over so many of her studios. Our lend-lease talent plan started with Kim Hunter in our picture, "A Matter of Life and Death."

NEVER BEFORE have I heard anything like this! The boldest forger in the world is the gent who has been signing the name of Detective Ray Schindler to hotel bills and other little odds and ends in New York! Ray, of course, is the detective who crashed the international limelight when he handled the Oakes-De Marigny murder case in Nassau. Imagine signing his name to anything stronger than a chain letter. Schindler has been out here on the West Coast for 10 days settling a will case and he tells me he only learned of the forgery when his New York office told him what had happened.

I AM TOLD confidentially, but it's not too confidential to print, that a part of David Selznick's deal with RKO for Ingrid Bergman to appear in "Bells of St. Mary's" was the rights to "Little Women." Member Katharine Hepburn made it in 1933? Joan Bennett played the youngest sister and it was one of the most charming pictures ever put on the screen. Well, David's hand has eye on it for quite a spell and that went into the deal for Bergman.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Maybe it happens in other towns and we just don't hear about it. But you can imagine the interest in a Hollywood cafe when Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall walked into the Players the night before they went East—and five minutes later in came Mayo Methot, his ex with her new romance, Bombardier Johnny Lehmann. Bogey had come directly from the studio and was in a sweatshirt, minus a tie. But he knotted his handkerchief into a bow-tie a la Frank Sinatra so he could dance with his new love.

A WHOLE NEW career has opened up for Bryant Washburn, veteran actor, on the radio. He tells me he is starting a "Down on the Farm" series for C. P. McGregor and makes his debut June 10. Lt. Bryant, Jr., has 300 missions over Germany, and as a bombardier has been deep in the fight. Seems yesterday he was a baby.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLY-

WOOD COLLECTED AT RAN- DOM: Celeste Holm of "Blonder Girl" fame has quietly divorced her husband, Francis Davis in the East; Olivia De Havilland wires that she must remain in the Boston hospital for another two weeks, so she has had to postpone christening the Liberty ship Thursday in spite of a columnist's saying the Capt. Eddie Hillman cocktail party for John Decker was a knockout, the day before it took place, it was really a very nice affair when it did happen a day later. The Ronald Colman came with the Earl Mar-shalls and admired Decker's portrait of Mrs. Hillman (Lady June In-vercyde). Errol Flynn introduced me to his aunt, Mrs. Isabelle Glover, who is here. "Just say I have a new girl," he said. Gene Fowler, his daughter, and Agnes, his bride of 25 years or more, were mingling with the several hundred guests. Sallie Eilers talking to her two ex-husbands, Host Gibson and Harry Joe Brown, was having the time of her life. All of them seemed as gay as could be.

WHAT'S COOKIN' with W. C. Fields and Perry Ward? These two comedians might do a picture together. John Hubbard, who left the cast of "Goodnight Ladies" to go into the Army will be a papa for the third time; Nancy Kelly and Fred Jackman, it is said, have again called off their romance; Paul-ette Goddard and Burgess Meredith celebrated their first year of married life with a dinner. They received all sorts of paper gifts—and paper is what I mean. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Billy Rose Is Missed

By PEGGY DOYLE

All glittered up like Mrs. Astor's legendary nag, "Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe," now showing on Keith Memorial screen, misses Broadway's ace showman Rose in the driver's seat.

With spendthrift lavishness, 20th Century-Fox went all out on Technicolor, girls, spectacular ensembles and night club chichi to a dizzying degree. The too-much-of-a-muchness pretentiousness of the piece mitigates against the lusty, well co-ordinated showmanship that earmarks Rose's own thoroughly entertaining productions.

Best thing about the picture is the engaging romance between co-stars Betty Grable and Dick Haymes. Betty, who is quite a pun-up dish in her chorus-doll clothes, has majored in the hard-knocks institute of learning and is determined that Haymes will not sacrifice a medical for a footlights career. Their mutual psychiatric research twinkles with laughs, and Twinkletoes Gable and silver-throated Haymes will amaze you with the naturalness and excellence of their performances.

These persuasive interludes are expertly staged by Script Director George Seaton, whose cue was to background this sprightly romance with the night club business. Instead, the girly-girly stuff, like so much cotton candy spilling out of poke in a hot, little fist at the circus, gets in your hair, your eyes and you lose your taste for it.

William Gaxton, the dashing song-and-dance man of many a Broadway musical hit, slows his pace and sobers his voice in this one to play Dick Haymes' trouping father. It is not a very rewarding assignment for this footlights' gallant. A favorite cinematic clown, Phil Silvers, does a standout bit as a hard-boiled stage manager who pinch hits for cupid.

Another pet of this department, wonderful Beatrice Kay, who twists the gay nineties with such irresistible humor on the radio waves and in the nation's liveliest night spots, does a brilliant acting job as an aging actress who loves and loses Gaxton but not for long. The glamour-making department apparently was too busy gilding the Grable and the numerous gamblers that Miss Kay was neglected as to lighting and makeup. To Miss Kay this is anything but O. K. with the tremendous fan following this delightful, little lady has built up. It mustn't happen again, boys.

WASHINGTON, May 23— This sort of things goes on surreptitiously all the time here, no matter who is President. But a certain important individual forgot the other night that it is only safe to do it in whispers—and has been pointedly advised he'd be smart if he got out of Washington.

The fellow got stinked and boasted openly in a hotel elevator he had President Truman "in my hip pocket!"

THIS KIND of business flourishes here. Washington is infested with characters—some obscure, but many prominent—who go around whispering that they can "deliver" the President.

But, except on rare occasions such as this, it's almost impossible to pin anything on them.

They pick their spots—and listen, s. . . And they make sure there are no witnesses.

THIS IS ONE of the many penalties a man has to pay for being President of the United States. He knows it is going on, but he's helpless to stop it. He never gets to face the traders.

So—these characters, who are willing to wreck a nation's faith and trust for their own ends, get away with it!

HEAVEN KNOWS how many shady deals are put across here every day in the name of an utterly innocent President!

OVER THE entrance to the Senate restaurant in the Capitol is a sign, "Refectory."

We looked up "refectory" in the dictionary and it says: "A dining hall in a monastery or convent."

Anybody care to toss this one around? Don't forget—there's a man on second b. e.

YOU'VE HEARD of the buck-passing that goes on in the government? Well, they've got a new gag about it in the Pentagon Building. Whenever an official wishes to advise a colleague subtly that a bit of buck-passing is in order he marks the document "Figgo." "Figgo" stands for, "forget it—I'm getting out!"

THE PENTAGON officials having to do with the European theater are finding time on their hands. So they're amusing themselves by conducting an imaginary beauty contest. They have daily ballottings and eliminations for "Miss Berlin of 1945!"

ANOTHER WAY in which they are whiling away the time is by tippng the literally thousands of European maps off the walls. This map-removing has even extended to the Office of Secretary of War Stimson.

In his sanctum, where two of the largest maps were hung, are now two blank walls.

INCIDENTALLY, the big courtyard at the Pentagon has been renamed "Pentagon Beach." It has practically everything except rolling surf.

To enable the Pentagon warriors to relax amid pleasant surroundings the courtyard has been decked out like Sunday at Coney Island. There are gaily-striped umbrellas; beach chairs and low lounging chairs—even a hot dog stand!

THERE ARE so many little push-buttons on every Pentagon interoffice telephone they are called "joke boxes."

WHEN Henry Wallace became Secretary of Commerce most newspapermen expected he would hold press conferences on the slightest provocation. But Mr. Wallace has proved unwontedly reticent. He has held only one press soiree since taking over March 1.

Moreover, he has cut the size of the commerce press room in half—and has taken out the bulk of the furnishings. There is only one filing cabinet left—and all that it contains is one folder marked "H. A. Wallace." The folder holds 17 of Henry's releases.

EVERYBODY WAS sure this would happen some time, and it has. Mr. Frank Smith, political writer for one of our local papers, telephoned Rep. Homer Angell of Oregon—and got the wrong number.

"That you, Angell?" asked Mr. Smith.

"Why, certainly," gurgled a heavily-saradonic masculine voice. "How are you, precious?"

Boston After Dark

WORK HAS BEGUN already on New England's newest and next horse-racing plant—a three-quarter mile track destined to be the successor of little Pascoag, and owned and operated by the Pascoag management and stockholders. . . Grading machines are busy leveling the land. . . Construction of the plant itself must await the green light from Washington which will signal a return to "unnecessary" civilian production, but certain optimistic quarters both in Rhode Island and Washington do not anticipate that the go-ahead okay will be deferred too long. . . The "new Pascoag" (which will not carry the Pascoag name, incidentally) is situated within 40 miles of Boston, on the outskirts of the town of Lincoln in Little Rhody, and on Route 5 between Woonsocket and Providence. . . The track is nearer Providence than Woonsocket.

RECOMMENDED: Pretty Betty Bradford, the new vocalist with Tony Bruno's orchestra at the Latin Quarter. . . Neil Phillips' exceptional piano-forte at the Town House—an instance in which good music acts as an appetizer instead of an irritant. . . The beautiful Piccadilly Restaurant, in the University Club premises but with an entrance on Stuart st. . . A cocktail lounge is being added. . . The real Cape scallops being served at Smith's Restaurant, the legendary "best eating place in New Bedford"—and the place with a cocktail lounge that cosmopolitans are describing as the most beautiful oasis of its kind in Massachusetts. . . Len Russ, the triple-threat of the Rumba band at the Rhumba Casino, who plays the fiddle, the gouds and directs (doing all well). . . The assortment of talented girls in the Music Box, with Tanya, Daphne Stauffer, and a newcomer, Muriel King, all singing from the now famous circular bar. . . Carl Brisson's singing of the disputed "Leni Marlene," a song wrongly attributed to Nazi composers before its adoption as a real favorite of our boys in Europe.

THE MAYFAIR'S first Celebrity Night since the lifting of the Sagansky curfew, so-called, struck a snag in tonight's wee hours, but an audience which had thrilled to Mitzi Green's wonderful playing was not vocal in disappointment. . . The difficulty arose because Fred Dale, new AGVA director in the Boston district, had not been informed of an agreement between Mickey Redstone, boss of the Mayfair, and Matt Pelvey, national director of AGVA's activities. . . Boss Pelvey of the night club entertainers' union had given permission to Manager Redstone to recruit acts from other Boston night clubs to play Mayfair Guest Nights.

A DOUBLE CELEBRATION is occurring at the home of the Louis Sagansky in Brookline. . . Lt. Albert Sagansky, navigator with the 8th Air Force, arrived home after months of service in the European theater on an unexpected leave. . . The day Lieut. Sagansky returned, his sister Mrs. Rhoda Lewin, became the mother of a daughter. . . The infant has been named Joan Robin Lewin. . . We hear that the United States Line is restoring passenger service to the Atlantic within a week (although it is not possible at this writing to check). . . But the information, coming from a source of authority, includes the added information that all passengers must be okayed by the State, War or Navy Depts.

U.S. Treasury Hoodwinks The American Taxpayer

By AUSTEN LAKE

THE PROOF IS PLAIN that the government of these United States, so philanthropic and fastidious in its dealings with foreign peoples, systematically cheats and deceives its own people, including our overseas soldiers. Here's a handy sample of how the Treasury humbugs (1) the overseas GI and then (2) hoodwinks the taxpayer with a lot of official malarky.

Austen Lake
monetary value.

Maybe you've heard my earlier lecture on the atrocious rooking our overseas guys take from the wallpaper money called "invasion money," fixed at 50-francs-to-the-dollar. The boys take a terrific licking on all foreign exchange which not only resembles National Cigar Store coupons but has little monetary value.

The only way anybody can gauge the value of money is by what money will buy. And 50 francs to the dollar won't buy much in competition with the highly inflated French toilet paper currency, most of which was run off by billions on Nazi printing presses during occupation and is so plentiful that French girls use it for hair curlers.

Now comes an official spokesman for the U. S. Treasury and says 'taint a gyp any whatsoever. Because, he says, our government has made no promise to redeem the billions of dollars' worth of this "invasion money." He says, "No promise to any foreign government to redeem this money was ever made. No invasion currency carries any legend suggesting such redemption by the U. S. A! . . . We have no secret understanding that we will ever do so."

That Is Pure Prevarication

THAT'S CRYSTAL CLEAR, EH? You'd get the notion that all Washington did print billions of invasion francs, belgas, lira, guilders and marks without any gold backing and paid its soldiers off at no other expense to the American taxpayer than the cost of paper and printing ink. Even if that is so—and it is NOT as I shall attempt to show, the government has gyped its soldiers just the same by fixing foreign exchange at one-sixth of its buying value.

Here's the hoax: The U. S. Treasury has paid, or established dollar credits, with all Allied and co-belligerent nations to the exact equal of the invasion money it has issued. That means honest old Uncle Sam, who cheats nobody unless it is his own people, has already forked over dollars to our debtor nations to the equivalent of the Army script printed.

In Italy, lately our Axis enemy and now enjoying a fuzzy status as "co-belligerent," we issued and paid out of our forces $350,000,000 worth of invasion lire. This has been already matched by full dollar credits, against which the wobbly Bonomi government can purchase $350,000,000 worth of materials and foodstuffs. And dollar credits, as any school child knows, is just as actual cash money as though it were stacked in greenbacks or piled in minted gold. ISN'T THAT REDEMPTION? Yes, scholars, that U. S. tax money which amounts to donating many gift billions of U. S. tax money for which we, mostly our soldiers, received only a minuscule part of the purchasing value. I am not familiar with the lira exchange, but I am with the franc and belga, which are 50 and 44 to the dollar respectively but ought to be 300. Which means that our soldiers get only one-sixth of the actual purchasing power while the French and Belgian governments make a profit in dollar credits, or about 84 cents on every dollar.

The Big Gyp occurs twice monthly when the dogfaces queue up to draw their wages and get paid in cigar store coupons. Army regulations make it a punishable offense for any soldier to possess American money, which he has to turn in at 50-to-the-buck. But if any soldier has American currency he holds, and he wants to risk court-martial, charges to the gang of French money-bootleggers for 200 francs, each smack. That leaves the bootlegger a margin of 100 francs profit for himself. I saw it done less than three weeks ago.

The second half of the Big Gyp comes when our jolly spendthrift treasury gives dollar credits in the full amount of its livestock francs to the foreign governments. So we get hooked coming and going!

Our Guys Can't Spend It in Germany

EVER SINCE WE STABBED DEEPLY into Germany and Washington became convinced that we had permanent residence, our guys are being paid in German invasion paper, 10 marks to the dollar. It's just a lot of green-colored junk because—and this will convulse you—the Army forbids any U. S. soldier to buy any civilian article inside Germany or to have any trade, traffic or intercourse with native Germans, whether shopkeepers or otherwise. So our guys just cart around growing wads of wastepaper which only becomes valuable when they leave the occupied area for home and present it for dollar redemption by the nearest finance officer.

Up until this moment our tender-hearted treasury has not awarded the de facto German government any dollar credits against this invasion paper, because there isn't any de facto German government as yet. But there will be soon and I'll bet all the T's in the littlelattle that some day warm-hearted Uncle Sam will fish down in his candy-striped jeans and fetch up dollar credits to pay Germany for every invasion mark issued. Then the German government will no doubt use that vast windfall, like the French and Italians and Belgians and Luxembourgers did before them, to buy foodstuffs and Mustangs wax for its needy people and we will thus give, as free deed of gifts to our late ruthless enemy many billions, all paid out of the U. S. taxpayer's pocket.

That hasn't happened yet, but I betcha 'twill! So don't you think it high time that some of our softly sinecured Congress people rise on their hind hocks and begin to holler for an equally honest deal, framed in honest language, for our own citizens, or at least on a parity with the frankness and generosity our government deals out to foreign nations?

Braves Buy Mort Cooper

ST. LOUIS, May 23 (AP)—Owner Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals announced today the sale of pitcher Mort Cooper to the Boston Braves. Breadon declined to say whether it is a strict cash transaction, the amount, or whether other players are involved. Cooper, who was present at the conference, said "everybody is happy," and that he will join his new team in Pittsburgh on Friday.

Pitcher Red Barrett and $100,000 go to the Cards for Cooper, it was authoritatively learned today.

Red Sox Off to Early Lead

FENWAY PARK, May 23—The highly publicized combination of Dave Ferriss and Pete Gray lured a gathering of 6000 here today to see the Red Sox and Browns open a four-game series. The one-armed Gray entertained the fans before the game by catching flies behind his back and getting the ball back to the infield as fast as a two-armed player. Ferriss was seeking victory No. 3 for the Sox. In four games he has blanked the opposition three. The Browns, Stephens, McQuinn and Kreevich presented a formidable batting threat, however.

The Browns' hurler was Sigmond Jakucki, the Yankee killer who beat the McCarthymen in the vital first week series last fall and beat 'em again last week when the Browns ran their victory string to nine straight over the New Yorkers.

FIRST INNING
BROWNS—Gray grounded to Steiner. Steiner threw out to Kreevich. Kreevich was thrown out by Tobin. NO RUNS.

Rookies Ferriss, Gray Great

By HUCK FINNEGAN

If Nellie waits until the sun shines, as she so often has been advised, she'll see no more sensational rookies than Dave Ferriss and Pete Gray, pitcher and left fielder of the respective Red Sox and Browns who opened a four-game series today at Fenway Park.

Ferriss is the 23-year-old Air Corps dischargee who shut out the A's in his big league debut April 29 and became so enamored of the whitewash drug he became addicted to it. Four wins in four starts is his record, scored on in only two of 36 innings. And he can hit. Christy Matheson, Bob Feller, Walter Johnson never broke so impressively as the ambidextrous Ferriss from Shaw, Miss. With any kind of a break he wouldn't be scored on yet. Look at the figures:

Mothers' Day, May 13, in Detroit—Winner of two games by shutouts. Paired in the first game of a Sunday doubleheader with Dizzy Trout, 27-game winner last season. That was the spot to be nervous. Did Ferriss take a chance? Yuh, like Frank Merriwell. He won the game, 8-2, his third victory. He fanned 10, getting York four times on called third strikes, always with men on.

How did he get scored on? Trout singled with one out in the fifth. Maier walked. Mayo hit to McBride, who threw to second too late to get Maier. Bases full. Culberson rolled to Steiner who threw him out, letting Trout score unimpeded. It was scored as an earned run, but McBride and Steiner will tell you no run should have scored.

Maier walked to open the seventh, and Mayo singled him to third. The Sox were leading 6-1 at the time when Culbenn hit to Steiner. The latter let the run score, tossing out Mayo at second.

Those are the only runs scored off Ferriss in four starts. He blanked the A's, Yanks and White Sox in his other three. And his hitting has kept Cronin smiling.

Gray? There's a story. The Wilkes-Barre, Pa., lad lost his right arm in an automobile accident when he was six. He wanted to play ball, however, was determined to become a major leaguer. He was in his home town. Starting in '35 his poor room gang financed four successive trips to Florida so that he might catch on with a big league club.

"I just wanted to get started," said Gray to the writer in St. Louis. "I was willing to join a Class D club. But every manager turned thumbs down on me."

He played with the Bushwicks of Brooklyn in '38 and '39, went to Three Rivers, Que., in '42, and there Mickey O'Neill saw him and persuaded Doc Prothro at Memphis to give him a try. Prothro did with the result that last year Gray hit .333, tied Kiki Cuyler's Southern Ass'n stolen bases record of 68 and was voted the most valuable player in the league.

"He's a big league ball player," said Luke Sewell. "He's hitting below .200 now but he'll climb. I suppose you fellows in the East think I'm an exhibitionist for playing him, but he'll surprise you."

He must have surprised the Yanks Sunday because he came up with four hits in seven trips in the double-header, batted in a couple of runs and made himself a general nuisance to the haughty New Yorkers.

He's a slick fielder and a Mercury-like base-runner. Fans will enjoy watching him catch a fly, tuck the glove under the stub of his right arm and hurl the ball into the infield.

He and Ferriss are wartime products but both promise to be around long after V-J Day.

Braves Toss Logan at Bucs Tonight

By BILL GRIMES
PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 23—The Braves open their first western invasion of the season under the lights tonight against the Pirates and, possibly, a near capacity crowd, at Forbes Field.

With the exception of Al Javery, the Braves were all present or accounted for when Manager Bob Coleman called the roll upon his arrival here this morning. Under the able guidance of Duffy Lewis, the dandy road secretary, the players checked in today from Bainbridge, Md. and were comfortably established at the Schenley before Pres. Louis Perini, General Manager Jack Quinn, Manager Bob Coleman and thecribes put in an appearance.

Javery is at his Worcester home recovering from the effects of having ten abscessed teeth extracted. He wasn't feeling too chipper after having five pulled last Sunday and probably isn't too good right now for he had five more removed yesterday. Al has been instructed to remain at home until tomorrow or Friday night so he won't be available for mound duty until the club reaches Cincinnati Sunday.

Bob Logan, who has done more pitching under the lights than any member of the corps, will make his second start as a Brave tonight. On his first time out, Logan stopped the St. Louis Cardinals with one run and eight hits. He showed Bob Coleman enough to warrant getting a starting assignment. But, with the exceptions of Ken Raffensberger of the Phillies, and Arnold Carter of the Reds, the Pirates were bad news for left handed last season.

The Braves are making a four day stop-over here in the Smoky city. They will play afternoon games for the next three days and then jump out to Cincinnati for a Sunday doubleheader and a single game on Monday with the Reds.

wagering in amounts from $10 to $100. It is a common sight to see long lines at the $20 and $100 windows in New York. People frequently wager from $1000 to $5000 on the outcome of a race.

A man who is wagering $1000 on the result of a horse race is not interested in "hot" paddock tips. He knows that over a period of time the good horses are the ones that win. The quickest way to go broke at a race track is by taking tips.

Photographs of races, taken from the start to the finish by cameras located at different parts of the track, have been used with success at some of the tracks. Harry Day has a camera, which was used at Narragansett, which takes the pictures of finishes down to the judges' stand before the horses were back at the finish line, and which electrically timed every horse in the race. Dave Wilson used to have access to these times, and he sells me the pictures of the horse in determining what a horse would do in his next start.

TODAY'S ROLL OF HONOR

"There is no sanctuary for brave men, danger allures them as the moon the tide; what they have dared they will dare once again though they lose all else in the world beside."—(A. G. Herbertson.)

The War Department today announced, through the Office of War Information, the names of 46 casualties of the European and Pacific regions residing in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Maine.

THE LIST INCLUDES 14 DEAD, 23 WOUNDED IN ACTION AND NINE MISSING IN ACTION.

Also announced were the names of 32 men from Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Maine LIBERATED from German prison camps.

Next of kin in all cases have been kept informed directly by the War Department of any change in status. In case of divergence between this list and information sent to next of kin, the last War Department telegram or letter to next of kin is the final authority on a soldier's status.

The Navy Department, also through OWI, announced 36 casualties of the Navy and Marine Corps residing in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Maine.
